Log Book

To the ends of the earth

Dear friends,

I hope this "Flight Log" will find you in good shape, both physically and spiritually.

Five missions have taken place since July and each of them brings a lot of surprises.

Antanimbaribé is a village that we visit for a few months. People are welcoming and eager to hear the good news.

The prayers of the team and the intervention of Dr. Justin help to help these particularly isolated villagers. Thus, when we left in October, we had the case of the small Tsimani who had cerebral malaria. Dr. Justin did what was in his power by giving her treatment, but to tell the truth, we did not know if she was going to survive. We prayed for her and during our visit in November, we found her completely restored and playing with the other children. Thank you Lord.

Welcome and

... and sharing the Good News

News from Befosa: The church of Befosa is doing well and strengthening thanks to our Lord and to Pastor Cyril who is making disciples.

During our last visit, Célise, a young woman who had been present for several months in our meetings, testified before the villagers about her new birth.

Injuries and deaths by firearms are common on the Bemaraha Plateau. We helped Nimby, a youth man who had been hit by a bullet under the eye; the bullet that had happily ricocheted the cheekbone and the Doctor had managed to put it back in place. Unfortunately, Nimby did not have access to care and waited for us to be examined. When we arrived, the infection had already spread and after Justin's intervention we had to evacuate him to Tana so that he would receive more appropriate care at the hospital. He lost one eye but the other could be saved.

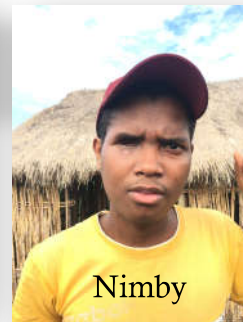

The village thought Nimby would not come back from the big city. Two months later, we brought him back. At the sight of his son, his father cried with joy and all the villagers rejoiced with him. For the occasion, the father killed a young zebu, the whole village was in celebration and we all feasted.

The village of Berequetta, which we have been visiting for six months, has built a building that serves as a school and place of worship. Pastor Zaka did an excellent job on two villages.

Four women, witches, healers gave their lives to the Lord which has a definite impact in the region. During our visit, two healers came to talk to me. They wanted advice, which allowed me to tell them about the extraordinary gift that God gives us in Jesus Christ. Darkness recedes on the Bemaraha plateau.

We are currently visiting seven villages. Five of them have places of worship including Ambilorano under construction, Begara, Berrequetta, Befosa and Bevero.

With all the Anani Center team, we wish you an excellent Christmas. This is an opportunity to celebrate the anniversary of Jesus' coming to this world more than 2000 years ago.

We are on the threshold of a new year, God bless you for 2020. Let us rejoice! Each past year brings us closer to His return.
